Nevada raised stock when properly cared for beats the California production in flavor and quality. Gardner takes care of his own herd, and all meat coming from his market is bound to be tender and sweet.

Meat immediately after being slaughtered is never tender and should be kept a day or two. In order to have it fresh after the expired time it should be kept in a cool place. M. C. Gardner sells meat both tender and fresh, as it is always surrounded by ice at a freezing temperature.

HOW CAN PARENTS—Allow their children to cough and calmly say: "Oh! it's only a little cold," and keep giving them cheap medicines, until they are down with lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by using BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP? It has no superior and few equals. W. H. Chedie, Druggist.

COUGH! AND COUGH! AND COUGH!—What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP will positively relieve your cough at once? ALL SORTS.

A new steam set in last evening.

Today the APPEAL enters on its 37th volume.

Don't forget to register, the time is getting short.

The new Republican have nominated W. N. McGill and Wm. Lauritzen for the Assembly, both strong Jones' men.

There was a flurry of snow yesterday. After the raw spell passes away several weeks of pleasant weather may be looked for.

Surveyor General Jones is back from his trip to the Eastern part of the State, and finds Republicans everywhere certain of victory.

The Liberals of Salt Lake, have nominated Judge C. Goodwin for Congress, a compliment he has fairly earned by long and able service for the Gentiles.

At the Last Chance mine, near Sonora, owned by the Bonanza No. 2 Mining Company, a pocket was struck a few days ago which yielded nearly $12,000.

The APPEAL is pleased to note that Mr. Parkinson takes his defeat gracefully and will give the ticket his hearty support. Keep your temper and pull for the ticket is the advice from one who "has been there."

Congressman Bartine left last evening for Wells, where he will open the political campaign, and make a speaking tour of Eastern Nevada, camping on the trail of George Cassidy and the balance of the Democratic ticket. It is safe to predict a majority for Bartine of 1,200.

In congratulating himself on his 220 votes, the editor of our worthy contemporary seems to have overlooked the fact that several leading Democrats in town were working hard to get him on the ticket. And those who escaped the challenger voted for him to a man.

There are twelve men working for R. K. Colcord, the Republican nominee for Governor. Of this two are citizens—Silver State.

Just the opposite, Kelly. Two are aliens, ten are citizens; eight are Democrats. Politics do not interfere with Colcord's private business—Walker Lake Bulletin.

A man in San Francisco while kissing a girl knocked out one of her front teeth. Another one hugged a woman with sufficient force to break one of her ribs. With the long list of casualties arising from careless and inexperienced kissing and hugging, there are still plenty of nifty women willing to take chances. As not more than one woman in ten thousand ever gets seriously hurt, the APPEAL would not recommend an abandonment of the practice on such a slight percentage of loss.

ADELIN MORTON, Teacher.

Needs No Answer.

The Democrats of Nevada adopted a surprisingly long platform full of charges against the Republican party, but the simple fact that the silver bill passed by a Republican Congress has lifted Nevada out of the Slough of Despond made prosperity possible will form a complete and satisfactory answer to every count in the indictment and carry the State for the party of reform.—S. F. Chronicle.

SLICK WORK.

A Neat Scoop by a Sacramento Reporter.

Isidore Alexander, the man who received the Examiner prize of $350 for being the best telegraphic correspondent, certainly deserves his reward.

One night last Winter he was along the line of the S. P. road, when he struck a station about midnight and saw a Chronicle correspondent get aboard.

Alexander knew at once that the Chronicle man had been at the station several hours, and must have filed a long report to his paper. He learned that the train would be there five minutes, and jumping off he walked into the station and saw a large "wad" of copy lying there.

"Did you get that package?" he said to the telegraph man.

"No; what package?" was the reply.

"The brakeman has it."

The telegrapher rushed out and boarded the train, while Alexander slid over the counter and grabbed the Chronicle's two column report.

The operator was rushing about interviewing brakemen as the train pulled out with Alexander on board.

The daring reporter slid off at the next station, roused the operator and forwarded the dispatch to the Examiner. He rode down with the Chronicle man and chatted all the way, the subject of his conversation being the tough hard winter and the cattle losses he was sustaining.

The Chronicle reporter thought he was a cattle man and Alexander filled him up with the terrible cattle losses of Nevada. The Chronicle man didn't know what became of his dispatch, until he picked up a copy of the Examiner. Alexander is what the boys call "hot stuff."

Supposed Clew to a Murder.

About a year ago an old man named John Selas was found murdered near his cabin at Pine Nut. His head had been smashed in with an ax and the surroundings showed that he had been killed for purposes of robbery.

There was no clew to the killing. But recently a man who works near there has become partially deranged, and keeps describing the circumstances of the murder as if it had prayed upon his mind and he could no longer keep quiet. His neighbors accordingly suspect him of the murder, although, without some corroborative evidence this seems but a slender clew as many instances are on record of people becoming deranged, by reason of their minds dwelling on crimes they never committed.

Guide Boards.

The Free Lance remarks: Nevada is in a bad way financially—upon this point politicians, editors, teachers and preachers are agreed—nevertheless there is one obligation the State is under to its citizens that cannot be excused on the plea of poverty; that is, to see that guide boards are set up at every fork of the road in the State. The amount of valuable time and rich opportunities lost and the suffering of weary, hungry and thirsty beasts, on account of travelers losing their way would be something amazing if it could be computed for a year. A week's journey by private conveyance in an unfamiliar part of the country would convince anyone of the facts and needs of the case.

Colcord is gaining strength as the campaign progresses.

A Card.

I desire to state to the public that I am still in the bark business, and am prepared to furnish the same in small or large quantities, at any and all times.

A Buncomb Lottery Law.

The recent law passed by Congress prohibiting the use of the mails for the transmission of matter pertaining to any lottery, was the greatest work of buncomb ever thrown at the public. It was passed for two reasons, one to take the patronage of the lottery people away from the U. S. Mail, and place it in the clutches of Wells, Fargo & Company, and the other reason was that a lot of poker-playing, faro fighting, turf-gambling Congressmen might pose as conservators of morality to their constituents.

The bill contains the following clause which explains what an utter humbug it is.

The seal of a letter or of any sealed packet, prepaid at letter rates, must not be disturbed for the purpose of ascertaining if its transmission in the mail or its delivery at the post-office is forbidden by the provisions of this act, nor will a mere suspicion that such letter or packet relates to a lottery, or the fact of its being addressed to any person known to be engaged in the business of conducting a lottery, justify its detention or non-delivery.

From the above it will be seen that the mail can be used in transmitting money or checks in payment for lottery tickets, and by any lottery company in sending tickets to its patrons, provided the letters or packages are sealed and the postage paid at letter rates.

In the contest for the APPEAL's prize Holstein, the vote now is as follows:

WHAT ON EARTH—Is the reason people will not, cannot, or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by Cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for purifying the blood as BEGG'S BLOOD PURIFIER & BLOOD MAKER, and every bottle that does not do its work, will cost you nothing.—W.
